This is of increased importance when a winemaker wishes to control certain winemaking parameters. Some winemakers are, however, daunted by the mathematics this might involve. The following article outlines simple mathematical approaches to common winemaking adjustments. What are the important methods of calculating Isotonicity? Another method for adjusting tonicity is based on V-values. The isotonic solution V-values for some of the commonly used drugs are given in the following Table. The V-value of a drug is defined as the volume of water in mL to be added to 0.3 g of the drug to make an isotonic solution. The addition of an isotonic vehicle (diluting vehicle) to make 30 ml yields a 1% solution (0.3 g drug in 30 ml ... (PDF) A Simplified Calculation Method of Length Adjustment ... The errors of the two kinds of adjustment formulas are less than 5%, comparing with the precise method for calculating the cable length adjustment. So, both can be used in strand adjustment ... Study on the Special Adjustment Methods for Calculating EVA Study on the Special Adjustment Methods for Calculating EVA Liu Cheng Economic School, Wuhan University of Technology, Wuhan, Hubei, China, 430070 ?E-mail:liucheng73@163.com? Abstract: After a review on the Economic Value Added (EVA) and its functions, the paper points out that it is necessary to adjust the contents related to financial statements in order to avoid accounting distortion ... Methods of adjusting tonicity and pH values of some drugs ... Methods of adjusting Tonicity and pH Several methods are used to adjust the isotonicity of pharmaceutical solutions. Isotonicity can be calculated from the colligative properties of drug solutions. If solutions are injected or introduced in to eyes and nose, these are to be made isotonic in order to avoid haemolysis of RBC's and to avoid pain and discomfort. This is possible for either ... GUIDANCE STATEMENT ON CALCULATION METHODOLOGY - GIPS standards CFA Institute GIPS Guidance Statement on Calculation Methodology 2 o For periods beginning on or after 1 January 2001, portfolios must be valued at least monthly. o For periods beginning on or after 1 January 2010, firms must value portfolios on the date of all large cash flows. Firms must define large cash flow for each composite to determine when portfolios in that composite must be valued ... Determining Titratable Acidity with Sodium Hydroxide ... Promoting the Science and Art of Home Winemaking. Determining Titratable Acidity with Sodium Hydroxide . Using Phenolphthalein Indicator Solution. Follow these steps to determine the Titratable Acidity (often just referred to as TA) in your must or wine. Add a known amount of grape juice to a beaker (usually 10 or 15 milliliters). Add additional water if the juice is rather dark. The amount of ...
